Storyboarding

Intro to storyboarding and how to create a visual representation of your story
What is a Storyboard?

A storyboard is a graphic representation of your video, scene by scene.

---

Action Notes:
BG pans from right to left.

Dialogue:
SpongeBob: That treasure’s so close I can smell it!

Action Notes:
Pan stops as SpongeBob sees an “X” marked on the ground. Patrick jumps excitedly, discarding his map off screen.

Dialogue:
SpongeBob: Look, Patrick -- X marks the spot!
Why do I need a storyboard?

1. It’s the best way to share your vision before filming
2. Makes filming way easier
3. Saves time in the long-run
Do I need to be a great artist?

No! Your story board can be simple stick figures but it will still give you an idea of how you want your scenes to look.
Storyboard Activity

We will rewatch “Disarming a Robbery with a Glass of Wine” and analyze the storyboard that was created in planning this movie.

Your group will have to place the storyboard in order with post-it notes to mark the plot diagram.
“Disarming a Robbery with a Glass of Wine”

Split Screen Version

Full Screen Version