

Sample Year-End or End-of-Semester Reflection

The following questions can be used as a written reflection at the end of a year or semester, or it can be used to prepare for a Presentation of Learning or Student-Led Conference.

1. Looking back over your year as student in 11th grade humanities, what are your most striking memories and why?
2. What does a well-developed education in humanities mean to you, and how are you making progress towards these ideals?
3. What are the most important things that you learned in humanities this year, and why are these things important to you?
4. What is your favorite thing that you read this year? Favorite thing that you wrote? Favorite thing that you made or said? Favorite thing that you saw or heard? Why?
5. Take a moment and express gratitude towards those who helped you as a humanities student this year.
